DAILY COURIER.

SATURDAY, .... NOVEMBER 13, 1858.

Reading Matter on every page.

FIELD TRIAL OF HARVESTERS .- Among matter tended for this morning's Courier, which we are compelled to lay over for want of room, is the report of the committee of judges at the sum-trial neek and neek-Allen coming out merely a perceptible quanty ahead. The report is an in-

Hogs .- The market antinues firm, but the weather was unfavorable yesterday for slaughtering. In our commercial summary, a sale of 1,000 ogs is reported at $6 25 net, and over 1,000 bar els of pork at $16. At Indianapolis, Ind., the receipts of hogs for packing were heavy, with sales at $5 75, and the slaughter, Monday, of 1,000 head. At New Alhany, no hogs have yet been killed aud buyers are backward at $6 and $6 25. At St. Louis, packers are paying $5 50 and $5 75

net, but have not commenced killing hogs. At Springfield, Ills., the packers were paying $4 50 aud $4 75 net. The following is from the Cincinuati Gazette, of

The market for hogs reacted to day. Buyers The market for hogs reacted to day. Buyers manifested a disposition to panse, which ereated a good deal of anxiety on the part of sellers to reulize, and late this evenling sales could not be made to any extent, either for present or future delivery at $6.25. The turn was decidedly downward. The business ao far has been almost wholly of a speculative character. Regular packers operate cautiously, and they have, so far, made but tew purchasers on their own account.

PROF. SMITH'S REPORT .- The length of the re post of Prof. J. Lawrence Smith, of the University of Louisville, upon Dupont's artesian well, which we publish this morning, will not, we hope, deter any one from perusing that interesting and valuable document. It is a complete description of this wonderful fountain, and affords incontestable evidence of the astonishing medicinal virtues ts waters possess.

The high character of Prof. Smith for scientific ttainments is a sufficient attestation of the correetness of his statements. Thoroughly educated the leading medical schools of Europe, having ecupied a high position in the Oriental sarvice, and now holding the chair of chemistry in the Unversity of Louisville, Prof. Smith is not liable to err in anything connected with chemical science.

MRS. McMahon's Dramatic Reading .- Last even. ng was anuounced as the debut occasion, in this ty, of Mrs. McMahon, the Fifth avenue actress a lady who is recommended to public notice by ner "great wealth and high social position." The vening was rainy, and the immense hall of the lasonic Temple was filled with an audience ofine persous and emptiness! Mrs. M. appeared, made selections from Romeo and Juliet, the School for Scandal, and other dramas, and read as if thousands of ears were listening and eyes gazing. She was not to be intimidated by a small audience. It is not likely, however, that she will create a taste here for such reading, even if a fairer evening and another attempt bring out

FURTHER FROM TAYLOR COUNTY .- A friend at Lebanon, writes us that it is presumed the moh will not hang Hunter, but hand him over for the aw to deal with. The cause of the summary unishment of the other parties, was the fact of our of the witnesses in the case of Thompton saving died since his trial and conviction, and there having been threatened. It is presumed that those who died were poisoued. Those implicated by Henry Hunter's confession, have been uspected for some time, and will doubtless share the fate of those who were hung. Some horri ble and startling developments may be anticipated.

THE BELL AFFAIR AGAIN .- The Grand Jury of Floyd county, have experienced considerable difficulty in identifying the persons who arrested Horace Bell, consequently the proper papers have not yet been forwarded to Governor Willard, in order to enable him to make a requisition. Bell offered to compromise with the Ferry Company is they would assume his bail at Brandenburg, and psy the costs incurred in effecting his release, some $300. They declined the proposition, and he will now bring suit against the company for a beavy amount of damages.

THEATER -- BENEFIT NIGHT .-- To-night, Miss Lucille Weston, one of the "star sisters" takes her benefit. She is handsome, vivacious and agreeable, and during the last week, has afforded our theater-goers such infinite amusement and pleasure, that she deserves a substantial benefit. The Three Fast Men, will be reproduced. It is a capital bit, giving fine scope to the sprightly talent of he two accomplished young actreses.

The stupendous financial swindle in New ork connected with the extensive issues of the bogus bills on the "New England Bank of Faironut, Maine," has excited a good deal of atteution. A large number of hitherto respectable brokers are said to be implicated in the fraud, and one or two, it is stated, fearing the result of an examination, have fled from the city. The plates for the bills were engraved by Messrs. Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, the celebrated banknote engravers, but without any suspicion on their part of anything wrong in the transaction .-The case is still undergoing examination.

THE WEATHER .- Such weather as that we have een enduring for several daya past deserves paragraphing from its unconscionable dreariness and gloom. The sky bas worn a bleak and wintry aspect-the air has been chilly and uncomfortable, and the general aspect of nature as depressing as the most miserable missnthrope could desire. Last evening a November rain commenced fallng and to a late bour was still drearily drizzling downward toward the earth. Admirable weather for ducks and suicides. The trial of the Rev. J. R. Graves, which has been progressing for some time in the First Baptist church, in Nashville, upon charges involving gross unchristian conduct, was brought to a close Wednesday night, by excluding Mr. Graves from the church.

THE CRAIG WILL CASE .- The County Court of Phillips, Ark., October term, appropriated one thousand dollars for the purpose of defending the will of the late Junius W. Craig. The city authorities of Helena have beretofore appropriated nade an attack upon T. R. Cobb, the newly elected Senator of Lawrence county, a few days since. Cobb knocked Parks down two or three times while be was untonched himself.

The report of Prof. Smith and the concluding letter of Bishop Spalding, render it necessary that we exclude from our columns this morning a great variety of interesting matter-editorials communications, news, and miscellany.

Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co., sell this mornng, (Saturday,) at 10 o'clock, on the landing at the mail boad wharf, by order of underwriters, one lifeboat, one yawl, ataying and spars, saved from the wreck of the H. D. Newcomb.

Wittaker was called to the Chair, and Robert McKee appointed Secretary.
On motion, the Chair appointed Peter Lashbrooke, Dr. M. Smith, Dr. Morgan, Col. W. S. Rand, and Col. Thos. B. Stevenson a committee to report resolutions for the consideration of the meeting.
Their report, as follows, was unanimously adopted.

the report of the committee of judges at the summer trial of the Reapers and Mowers before the Kentucky State Agricultural Society. The premiums were awarded as follows:

To Warden, Brokaw & Cline of Ohio, for Allen's New York Reaper, as a combined machine.

To the same parties, for Allen's Hand Raking Reaper, as a reaper simply.

To R. S. Allen, New York, for Allen's Mower, as a mower simply.

The Kentucky Harvester, of our enterprising fellow citizens, Messrs. Miller, Wingate & Co., beat Allen's New York Reaper considerably as a reaper, but the latter beat the former as a mover more, and consequently took the premium as a combined machine—the two being adjudged equal as to ease and convertibility.

The competitor of Allen's Mower was Aultman's Ohio Mower, and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and the two went through the trial rock and machine and machine and the two operatures and approve his acts.

**Resolved**, That we most cordially approve of the proposed convention, which is to meet in Frankfort, on the 5th of January next, as an effectual means of uniting all the friends in Kentneky of the present administration of the general government, as well as of promoting the great cause of Democracy.

**Resolved**, That we recognize, as statesmen eminently qualified for the office of Governor of this Commonwealth, Gen. Wm. O. Butler, Beriah Magoffin, Judge Hise, and Hon. Linn Boyd.

**Resolved**, That among those whose names have been mentioned in connection with the second office in the gift of the people, we have heard with great pleasure of the recommendation to that office, of our gallant and talented neighbor. Capit. Wm. E. Simms, of Bourbon, and we most cheerfully commend him to the consideration of the convention, as a gentleman well qualified for the office of Lieut. Governor of Kentucky.

**Resolved**, That we most heartily approve and Indorse the administration of James Buchanan, as pre-eminently patriotic and conservative.

**Resolved**, That the thanks of the Democracy of Nicholas county are due to Hon. James B. Clay, for his manivand patriotic correct during the last session of Congress. No representative ever better reflected the will of his constituents.

Resolved That Nicholas county, according to the adopted rule, will be entitled to nineteen delegates and nine votes in the convention, having cast, at the late election, upwards of eight hundred and fifty Democratic votes for the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, although a partion of those votes were rejected (but improperly rejected) by the county examiners.

Editor Yeoman: Hon. Linn Boyd is, we believe be choice of the Democracy of the Green river appears to be also the choice of the Democra the State for our next United States Senator.
Should Col. Boyd uot be a candidate for Goy rnor, the question will arise who shall he? easting about for a suitable candidate for that high and important office, it seems impossible not o see, that among the many eminent and worthy centlemen stands Col. Willis B. Machen, of Lyon gentiemen stands Col. Willis B. Machen, of Lyon county. Of Col. Macheu's Democracy we need not speak. It is spread upon the journals of our State. He was a member of the convention that framed our present constitution. He has served his district in the State Seuate, and was a memher of the last Legislature. He is always true. A more unexceptionable record than Colonel Machen's cannot be produced by any statesman. As a high-toned christian gentleman, and for moral and social worth, he cannot be surpassed. It is known that Col. Machen introduced, and carried through the last Legislature of Kentucky, a resolution indorsing President Buchanan's ad-ministration. Msny, who are now the admirers t the administration, and its warm and arden upporters, were then lukewarm, and apparentl uncertain which way "the cat would jump;" con-sequently, were as quiet as they are now enthusicontlemen who have been spoken of in connection with the office, we honestly believe that no man commends himself more to the Democracy of Kentucky than Col. Machen for our next Governor. Trusting to your usual courtesy for an insertion

Great National Cricket Match. A national cricket match—none of your "elever of Canada against eleven of New York"—bu a regular top-loftical affair, between the United States and England, is on the tapis. The St. George's Club was convened on Monday evening last, for the purpose of taking the initistory steps to bring about the proposed match. Last summer the secretary of the club addressed a note to the "Lord's Club, Marylebone," whether and and upon what terms the best eleven of England would visit the United States for the purpose ot playing a friendly game. Answer was received that they would some over for one hundred pounds stepling would come over for one bundred pounds sterling each—enough to pay their passage to ano fro and expenses; the party to consist of thirteen persons eleven players, one umpire and one scorer. English readers are aware—though your Quakers, probably, are not—that the eleven of the Lord's Club are regarded as the best in the kingdom.— Club are regarded as the best in the kingdom.—
They do nothing but play cricket, audearn, on an average, from tour to five pounds a week. It is understood that, if the proposed match comes off, "the eleven will be composed of six or seven professional, and four or five young sprigs of nobility. The St. George's Club propose to raise seven thousand dollars to defray the hospitalities, and have resolved to "do it." Letters were directed to be written to Lord Napier and Mr. Archibald, the British Consul, soliciting their donations and co-

DUPONT'S ARTESIAN WELL,

Report, Analysis, and Comparison of its Waters BY PROF. J. LAWRENE SMITH.

Of the University of Louisville. The artesian well, forming the subject of this report, is one of the most interesting objects of the kind to be found in any part of the world. It was ndertaken by Messrs. C. I. & A. V. Dupont, of ouisville, prosecuted with great energy and large expenditure, and accomplished in a much shorter ime than any similar undertaking of the same aguitude. The practical skill of Mr. Blake directed the construction of the efficient machinery employed, sud so successful was he in the directions of the operations, that not a single deten ion was experienced from the commencement to the termination of his labors.

The citizens of Louisville were not aware of what was going on in their midst until some time in the month of August. The public prints announced that a jet of mineral water was pouring forth in vast volumes from a boring at the paper mill, two thousand and eighty-six feet in depth.

In giving an account of Dupont's artesian well, t will, no doubt, interest many to learn something a regards the nature and history of artesian as legards the nature and history of artesian wells. The principle difference between the ordinary and artesian well, is that the latter is very much smaller in diameter than the former, and penetrates the earth to much a greater extent. In digging the ordinary well the instruments employed are the spade and pick, or blasting with guapowder when rock is penetrated.

To form an artesian well, very different instruments are employed across are not well its as a series well.

nenls are employed, some are not unlike an auger, out the more usual ones are in the form of chisels. out the more usual ones are in the form of chisels. It is proper to commence by erecting a tall shed over the spot where the boring is to take place, some thirty or forty feet in height and eight or ten feet square at the base, gradually diminishing in size unwards. This is done for the convenience of elevating and storing away the long rods used in making these wells. Long rods of hickory, or other strong fibrous wood, are procured; they are from 1½ to 2 inches in diameter, about thirty feet in length, and so arranged at their extremities rom 1/2 to 2 inches in diameter, about thirty feet a length, and so arranged at their extremities by iron casings aato be easily and securely fast-ned to each other, while they admit of being qually readily detached. It is to the extremity to the rod that the chisels and other excavating tools are attached, as also the long, narrow huck-et for taking up the loose materials detached by the excavating tools. Mechanical arrangements are next unade for hand, horse, or steam power, to give an up and down moliou to the rod of 15 to 20 iuches, while a slow, circular motion is giv-en to it by some one standing over the poring. by some one standing over the poring. Thus furnished, it is best when the nature of the ground admits of it, and it is expected to go to a considerable depth to commence, by sinking an ordinary well 4 or 5 feet in diameter, and 10 to 15 feet deep, provided it can be done without interruption by water; next attach one of the tools to the end of the rod, and pierce the ground with a hole, varying from 2 to 9 inches in diameter.—blost commonly, if the well is expected of great lepth, it is commenced with a colibre of from 5 to menced with a calibre of Iro inches, and afterwards diminished to 3 or 4, or

If the boring passes through sand, or loose material, it becomes necessary to place in the well strong tubes to sustain the sides, as other-wise, the loose material becoming detached, may at any time fill up the boring; in this way the well at Charleston, South Carolina, was, on one occasion filled up 140 feet in a single uight. When the boring is through rock, tubing is not usually required.

required. The supply of water to artesian wells follows the same law of other wells and springs, viz: The water rises in them to no greater hight than that of the source. In this city the water rises in the ordinary wells to within torly feet of the surface, for the simple reason that the level of the hasin of water in the gravel under the city is that depth beneath the surface. In artesian wells that are considered successful, the horizing is carried to are considered successful, the boring is carried to such depth that some vein of water is encounter-ed, having its connection with a source much higher than the surface of the artesian well, thus suring a flow of water above the surface of the bund. It does not, however, always happen at the water in artesian wells rise to the surface Many of the salt wells in Virginia, and elsewhere, are of this character, and the water has to be pumped to the surface. There is a well of this last description, at Brighton, England, from which 700 gallons are pumped every minute.—
This method of forming wells, is of very ancient date. The Chinese comployed it one or two thouses. This method of forming wells, is of very ancient date. The Chinese cuployed it one or two thousand years ago, but the introduction of it into one of the provinces of France (the ancient Artesium) during the reign of Louis the Fourteenth, is what has given the generally received name to this class reat chasms and caverus so celebrated in various arts of the world, for the rivers that llow rough them, and are lost in them, as the cavern of Guachare, in South America, which Humboldt raced for 2,400 feet, finding all along its extent a iver, 30 feet wide, rolling along the floor of this magnifient cavern. In the cavern of Adelsburg, in Carniola, the river Peek engulfs itself, t appears and disappears many times, and has occurred underground, through an extent of t appears and disappears many times, and has been traced underground, through an extent of ix miles, as far as a large lake. The fountain of Vaucluse also issues from subterraneous rocks, and pours forth a volume of 13,000 cubic feet per minule, even under ordinary circumstances, and this is sometimes increased to 40,000 cubic tect. But to us there is no more interesting cavern containing abundant streams than the far-famed lammoth Cave.

In passing through the various strata, with the poring apparatus, it commonly happens that dis-inct sheets of water are penetrated, having no connection with each other; as for example, in the orks which have been undertaken for the search f coal at St. Nieholas Aliermonte, near Dieppc, in rance, seven great sheets of water were passed trough at the respective depths 76, 307, 587, 645, 550, and 1,030 fect. In coming upon the seams water in artesian wells, it may be that they nerely percolate porous and rock, or they are egular caverns in the rock, varying in depth rom a few inches to twenty or more feet. The urface of the country in which these wells may unade successfully, furnish no indications. In the province of France, from which the names of these wells is derived, the water comes up in imnense plains, where no hill is seen even in the istance. Of course, the water comes from some toint higher than the plain; it may be 50 miles, it may be 100 miles or more, and where the geo-logical formation of the country is the same we could hardly set a limit to the distance from which the water might come. In fact they are now boring successfully for water in the Ali ican deserts. onsiderable interest connected with these wells is see indications they furnish of the gradually inthe indications they furnish of the graqually in-creasing temperature as we descend into the earth; at different places there is a slight difference in the ratio at which the temperature increases. In de-scending from the surface of the earth by excavation we come to a depth at which the thermome-ter will atand at the same point all the year. At Paris, in France, this depth is nincty feet, and the Paris, in France, this depth is nincty feet, and the temperature 53 deg. Fahrenheit; in passing below this point the temperature gradually increases in a uniform ratio of 1 deg. Fahrenheit for every additional 61 feet of depth, so that the deepest excavation at that place, being 1808 feet, has at the bottom a constant temperature of 81 deg. Fahrenheit. The ratio in Scolland is 1 deg. for 48 feet of descent; the mean of seventeen wells in other places in Europe gives 1 deg. for every 53 feet.—The experiments made on the well at this place, taking the conatant temperature at 90 feet to be taking the constant temperature at 90 feet to be 53 deg., show an increase of 1 deg. of heat for ev-ery 6s feet of depth. It is not the object of this pport to euter upon speculation as regards the auses of the gradual increase of temperature.

The uses of artesian wells are various, as will be seen by reading the following extract from Tom-inson's Encyclopedia:

be seen by reading the following extract from Tomlinson's Encyclopedia:

"Artesian wells have not only been employed for providing houses with water, but their waters have also been used as a moving power. In the village of Gorlhem, near Bethnme, there are 4 borings to the dapth of 120 feet; the waters are conveyed into the water course of a ficur mill, and are also made to subserve agricultural purposes. The little town of Koubaix, near Arras, was in danger of loosing its principal means of support, by its silk spinning and dye works, from want of water.
Artesian wells were snnk, one of which yields 283 cubic yards of water per day, or double the power of a steam engine of 20 horse power. At Tours an artesian well pours 237 gaitons of water per minute into the trough of a watershee! 21 feet in diameter, which is the morlog power of a large sitk factory. In another place at Foutils, near Aise, the united waters of 10 wells are made to turn the milt stones of a large mill, to blow the beliows and to beat the hammers of a nail mannfactory.

"The constant high temperature of these waters renders them especially valuable during winter, either as a

Lapayette Well.—An artesian well has been

DUPONT'S ARTESIAN WELL .- The Messrs. Duont were desirous of obtaining a large supply of ure water, for the purpose of extending the perations of their paper mill, now consuming 10 parrels of water per minute, taken from several rdinary wells, one of them being 14 feet in diameter, with 14 feet of water rising in it when not numped. In addition to this there is a supply to he boilers taken from the river. Contrary to probabilities and many adverse predictions, these arties undertook to sink an artesian well in the mestone forming the substrata of Louisville .ery complete arrangements were made by erectng strong and efficient machinery, in connection with the steam engine of the paper mill, for the urpose of clevating and depressing the rods and orking the various tools used in boring. The work was commenced in April, 1857, from the bottom of one of the wells of the factory, that has a depth of 20 feet, the boring tools employed made a hole 5 inches in diameter to the depth of 75 feet, from the surface; the boring was now reduced to 3 inches, and thus continued to the bottom of the well.

The rock struck, which geologically belongs to the "Davonian series," is for 33 feet shell lime-stone, then for 40 feet coraline limestone; at which lepth the upper silurine is reached. Without eing able to make out, with any degree of cer-sinty, the amount of upper silurian passed arrough, we suppose it to be over 1,200 teet. At the depth of 1,500 feet a saud rock was reached, oubtless of the lower silurian, and 97 feet deeper has encountered the first stream of water which eached the surface. This flowed out on the product sched the surface. This flowed out ahundantly reached the surface. This flowed out ahundantly and with much force. The quantity not being sufficient, the boring was continued. After this, t was nanccessary to use the bucket to take out the material detached by the borer, the force of the water bringing up the lragments very readily. The water increased in quantity in going deeper, the increase being more marked at 1,879 feet, and still more at 1,800 feet, where pieces of rock weighing an ounce or two came up with the water increased every ten or twenty feet.

reighing an ounce or two came up with the water. The water increased every teu or twenty feet of the depth of 2,036 feet; here a very hard magnesia limestone was encountered 6 feet in thickness. After which the sand rock reappeared, and for the next 50 feet there was no increase of water. From the urgent request of many citizens of Louisville, the boring was now stopped to give a fair test of the medical virtues of the water that ns pouring forth at the rate of 280 gallons in ute, or about $80,000 gallons in 24 hours. water, by its own pressure, rises in pipes 170 feet thove the surface. When the size f the bore (three inches in diameter) and its opth are considered, the flow of water from the ugh the Grenelle well ar Paris delivers 600,00 llous in twenty-four hours, it has at the bottom area six times as great as the Dupont well, an few hundred feet up seven times as great. A orresponding diameter to Dupont's well would, ecording to just and reasonable calculations, uruish about 2,000,000 gallons in twenty-four

The water comes out with considerable force om the five-inch opening, and a heavy body brown into the mouth of the well is rejected al ost as readily as a piece of pine wood. By ar proximete calculation, its mechaical force i ual to that of a steam engine with cylinder le ight, with a large water pipe, from which the ater passes in the form of a sheaf. When the shole force of water is allowed to expend itself n the central jet, it is projected to the hight o om 50 to 100 feet, settling down to a steady flow a stream 60 feet high.

TEMPERATURE OF THE WATER.—The water, as it ows from the top of the well, has a constant tem-erature of 76½ Fah., and is not effected either by he heat of summer or the cold of winter. The emperature at the bottom of the well is several degrees higher that this, as ascertained by sinking a Walferdin's registering thermometer to the bottom, which indicated $2% Fah. Taking as correct data that the point of constant temperature below the surface of Louisville is the same as at Paris, namely, 53 Fah., at 90 feet below the surface of Louisville is the same as ace, we have an increase of 1 deg. of temperature or every 67 feet below that point. The increase in Paris is 1 deg. for every 61 2-10 feet. The tem-erature of the water is sufficient for comfortable bathing during most of the year, a circumstance that will be of considerable importance, if it ever be turned to the use of baths. The reason of the leading from the surface to the rock passes through a stratum of water 60 feet thick, having temperature of 57 deg.

The Source of the Water.—The question nat urally arises, if the vein of water supplying this well has a connection with some distant source higher than the surface of Louisville, where is that source? From all that we have been able to learn of the geology of this county, taking Louisville as a center, the first rocks encountered corresponding to the sand rock (in which the water of the ing to the sand rock (in which the water of the artesian well was struck) are in Mercer, Jessamine, and Garrard connties, near Dix creek, to the east of Harrodsburg. The rocks there are said to be cavernous and water-bearing. The elevation is about 500 feet greater than Louisville, and about 75 miles in a straight line from this city.

This being the most probable source of the water, from whence comes its mineral constituents? These are are obtained from the rocks through which it percolates in its way from its source to the point below Louisville, where it has been tapped, and where it will doubtless flow in undiminished quantity for centuries to come; as wells having such deep sources as this are usually inexhaustible. NATURE OF THE WATER .- The water is perfectly limpid, with a temperature as already stated of the similarity of these waters would have been even more striking.

In the analysis of the Blue Lick water Profes In the analysis of the Blue Lick water Professor Peter estimates the alumina, phosphoric acid, and iron compounds under one head. We have therefore not been able to carry them out separately. In the analysis of the Kissingen water, by Kastner, the alumina is estimated separately, and, in his combining the acids and bases formed by analysis, he has thought proper to combine none of the chlorine with the calcium, nor any of the sulphuric acid with potash. Had this been done, the similarity of these waters would have been even more striking.

It is well to remark, for the benefit of the general reader, that the chemist, in analysing mineral water, discovers by direct process, the amount of saids and hases, and by subsequent calculation determines how they are combined, so as to form the varions salts, as for instance: By one process, the amount of sulphuric acid is determined; by three others the soda, line, and potash. As to what portion of the last three are combined with the sulphuric acid, this he does not arrive at by analysis, but by calculation; and as there is no one data for making these calculations, different chemists may differ in the way they state the salts, although they may agree exactly in regard Ithough they may agree exactly in regard the quantity of acids, and bases in these alts. Were the analyses of these mineral waters alts. Were the analyses of these mineral waters all calculated on the same basis, their similarity could have been better contrasted, but I preferred iving the analysis of each one as it appeared before the public, made by able and well known hemists. As regards the gaseous contents, the dissingen does not contain any sulphuretted hyrogen gas. The Dupont and Blue Lick contain right as been often asked what the difference is between his water and that of Congress Springs at Saraga, I would state that the last contains 255 rains of common salt to the rails of common salt to the rails.

oga, I would state that the last contains 355 rains of common sailt to the gallon, and uiffers rom that of Dupont's well in the large amount of arbonic acid, and the larger proportion of carbonate of lime and carbonate of magnesia, and in the basence of the sulphates; the proportion of solid constituents is also less in Saratoga water.

The iBlue Lick Spring, situated in Nelson county, Ky., is so well known in this country that it is nancessary to make any statements concerning. The Kissengen Spring not being so well mown, a few remarks concerning it would be in thice. These springs are situated in the northern art of Bavaria; and it is in this neighborhood and one of the artesians wells mentioned in this at one of the artesians wells mentioned in this ort has been bored, but it has no relation with esprings that have rendered this place so cele-ated for a number of years. It is to the water of this spring that chemical analysis shows the water of the upon well to be closely allied.

Manical Propegnies.—Before making the medical report on this water, I would state that mineral vaters are like other medicional agents, only to he seed under the judicious advice of intelligent physicians. Mineral waters in the treatment of di-case take a place between medical and dietetic catment, and become eminently useful in a variety of diseases that require for the cure or alle-viation the continued use of some mild and gen-tle remedy that may be taken in connection with the ordinary drink and feed.

This aubstance, iodine, was discovered in 1811, and very shortly afterwards its medical virtnes were ascertained, and it now ranks among the most important medical remedies. Within the last few weeks additional attention has been called to the subject by Dr. Boinet, in a communication made to the Academy of Medicine, in Paris. The doctor proposes the introduction of iodine into the daily food of persons laboring under any of the forms of this disease, such as worms, cretinism, enlarged glands, etc. Wherever iodine, he states, is abundantly diffused throughout the air, these disorders are rarely seen, and that the energy of the vital functions is in the direct ratio of the quantity of iodine existing in the animal economy. He proposes to iodize bread, cakes, sirups, etc., etc., simply by the introduction of such plants as naturally contain iodine, namely: all kinds of sea weeds and crueferons plants, or also be a sure of the sure of the state. A special messenger recently arrived at the capital with information that the Indians around Spirit Lake are daily becoming more and more insolent in their bearing towards the whites, and solent in their bearing towards the whites, and solent in their bearing towards the whites, and solent in their bearing towards the whites, and sirups, etc., etc., simply by the introduction of such plants as naturally contain iodine, namely: all kinds of sea weeds and cruciferons plants, or else by using the water of iodized springs or salts containing the same principle. Under these forms the quantity of iodine administered is so small as to communicate no peculiar tasts to the edible substance. After ten years' experience, during which Dr. Boinet has treated children specially selected by a physicion of a "Bureau de Bienfaisance" for their acrofilous habit, he has come to the conclusion that the diet he proposes, if persevered in for some months, will not only cure scrofulabulation that the diet he proposes, if persevered in for some months, will not only cure scrofulabulations of the same settlement in the spring of 1857. Added to this, in one year Louisville will be so connected by railroads with the South and Southwest, that the planters of these regions who may sojourn in this city will be separated but a day or two from their plantations.

Other seminaries are also filled with young men pressing into the ministry. We are told that many young men in business, and some who have studied for other professions, have turned their attention to the ministry.

Indian Hostilling in Iowa.—We learn from the Iowa papers that a renewal of Indian depredations is threatened in the interior of the State. A special messenger recently arrived at the capital with information that the Indians around Spirit Lake are daily becoming more and more insolent in their bearing towards the whites, and are committing depredations on their property. Horses had been stolen, and further outrages are apprehended. The Indians around Spirit Lake are supposed to be some of Inkpadntah's band, who butchered the inhabitants of the same settlement in the spring of 1357. Gov. Lowe has ordered Captain Martin's company of Frontier Gnards to proceed to Spirit Lake with all dispatch.

The Bishop and the Journal.

We publish this morning the conclusion of Blshop Spalding's reply to the Journal. The Bishop, as will be confessed by all candid men, has the best of the argument. He has stated facts which have not been denied, and applied arguments which have not been answered. The editor of the Journal thinks that the Bishop has been helped by a Squire, and we advise him, therefore to get the help of at least one more Know Nothing preacher, to equal the Bishop's Squire.

The Gubernatorial Nomination-Col. Machen. We publish this morning, from the Frankfort Yeoman, a letter recommending Col. Willis B. Machen, of Lyon county, for Governor. Col Machen is all that is said of him in this commu nication. He is one of the very best men in the State. We know him well, and esteem him highlv. He is talented, learned, and true. He is social, clever, and high toned. He is, moreover, a Democrat of the school in which none but the best Democracy is taught, and comes up to the standard of a statesman for a State office

A few days testing, guided by the experience gained during the manufacture and subsequent use of the cable, will, in all probability, enable him to accertain this be yond doubt. Mr. Whitehouse then says:

"If the result of this examination be such as to satisfy my judgment, I shall then be prepared to make to the company the following offer: I will undertake, at my own cost and at my own risk, to reopen communication with Newfoundland; and, further, to maintain it for a given number of years at a moderate per centage upon the grossreceipts of the company, this being payable so long only as the line shall be kept by me in good working order, I, therefore, request the Direcworking order, I, therefore, request the Directors' permission for such examination of the cable as shall be necessary to enable me to make an of

He recently saw a victory won over a sovereign needle. cently saw a victory won over a sovereign people by the use of squires. It was the cheating of the old soldier, Capt. This victory was wou hy the use of Squires Clement and Matlack, and the editor of relates the following: the Journal was well pleased with the result. He had never seen anything so admirable.

It seems that the editor was so impressed with the victory won by the use of these squires, that he considers a squire necessary to every signal conquest. Hence, when he got into an argument with Bishop Spalding upon the school question with Bishop Spalding upon the school question, and the Bishop triumphed over him, he concluded bre and the Bishop triumphed over him, he concluded that a squire must have been used in achieving so complete a conquest. What should the editor who was then an actress of a Boulevard theater. so complete a conquest. What should the editor do, then, but say that the Bishop had been helped

TERRIBLE MASSACRE IN MEXICO.—The Browns wille Flag, of the 27th ult., has the following in reference to the reported massacre of 400 of Vidaurri's men, taken prisoners by Gen. Miramon in the late engagement before San Luis:

In the engagement between the reactionist forces and those of Vidaurri, 400 of the latter's men were captured by the former, who after seeing them disarmed, and taking from them their most valuable equipments, ordered his second in command to take them from his sight, and do with them as he thought fit. This inhuman wretch, who well knew what would ensue from such a course, placed them in the hands of his soldiery, who were just then in a beastly state of intoxica-tion. They immediately fell upon the captives, who were entirely defeuseless, and a horrible mas-sacre followed. At the end of the terrible scene the lifeless bodies of four hundred human beings were found stretched upon the ground, mangled and weltering in their blood, a sacrifice to the holy cause of liberty.

LARGE AMOUNT OF PREMIUMS ON FINE HORSES. The Messrs. Dorsey, of this county achieved a wonderful success this season in the exhibition of their splendid horses at the various State and county fairs, if the quantity of silver pitchers, cups, etc., they received is a fair criterion to judge by-the value of such articles awarded to them during the campaign, amounting to over one thousand four hundred dollars! We congratulate them on their well merited good fortune.

WHOLESALE LIQUOR STORE .- The old firm Ratel & Ford having been dissolved, Mr. Ratel continues the business at the former stand on Well street. [Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.] The Race for Governor-Butler and Welsh

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 10th, 1858 Editore Louisville Courier: - In your valuable paper of last week, I was greatly pleased to see a coommunication urging the claims of that gallant veteran and statesman, Gen. William O. Butler, as a suitable candidate for the office of Governor of Kentucky. This and similar notices in various parts of our proud old Commonwealth, show the high estimation in which Gen. Butler is held by the masses of the people, and sugers well for the future. Such expressions of individual preferences are indeed useful and necessary. They are the lights by which the friendly discrimination of the Convention will study the thoughts of the 'people.' Without disparaging the well-earned fame, qualifications and merits of the several disfame, qualifications and merits of the several distinguished Democrats, now activity urged by their friends for gubernatorial honors, you will allow me as a Democrat te express myself decidedly in favor of Gen. Butler for the office of Governor, and Major William R. Welsh of Jessamine for the office of Licut Governor. Of General Butler it is needless for me to speak. His Democracy is spread upon the national records of the national congress: It is always true, always fearless, and interest the descent of the several distinction of the national congress: It is always true, always fearless, and interest the descent of the several distinction of the national congress: It is always true, always fearless, and

A more unexceptionable record than Gen. Butler's canuot be produced. A hero in two wars, the victor of the River Raisin, the companion in arms of the lamented McKee and Willis, and the warm and bosom friend of the vnerated Jackson. Of Mr. Welsh we may truly say, a more unflinching Democrat cannot be found. No man has rendered the Democratic party of the Ashland District more efficient service than William R. Welsh. He has never sought an office in his life. GEORGE W. JOHNSTON, JEDGE. FRIDAY, NOV. 13.

BAILED OUT .- Daniel Maloney, sir, was bailed out of the cave this morning.

The bill of fare this morning consisted of three poor women, and two miserable, bad looking cases for men, all foul birds, not very fair, but in rather poor feather, ruflled, and dirty, too, and no doubt rictims to strong drink—tangle foot and burst head combined. At least, one of the females, yet a young womau, has seen better days, and had been well raised, but was debased and diagraced was the her inordinate desire for liquor.

Wasting for the Wagon.—Ann Barry, rather a middle aged woman, was found upon her devious way, on the street, unable to navigate, all along of pouring down too much liquor. She says she was waiting for the wagon to go to the country, and was very tired. Bail of $100 for a month or two.

Sopping in Mud and Beer.—James Connor, real hard looking, blue eyed, unwashed, unshaven case, was found in a helyless condition, supposed to be the effects of bad whisky. He couldn't walk, and said he had a cramp, but no whisky.— He buys a quart of beer and a loaf bread at time, and sops the bread in the beer and eats it.— He was let off on the promise to steer clear of whisky and wash himself.

SUPPOSED TO BE CRAZY .- One Michael Carrier, noudescript in appearance, was picked up on the streets awhile before day, and shut up to save his life. He is a night walker, and a street walker being up and about at all hours, a sort of wauder He, no doubt, is crazy, and was sent t the circuit court for examination. He, however, bad some little method in his madness, as he had laid in a good supply of corn bread, having hi pockets full.

The other cases were two women, just out of the cave, and not presented, but let off.

MOUND CITY, Nov. 5, 1858. Editors Louisville Courier: We saw not long since one of your papers, in which you noticed (editorially) our highly estcemed friend, Geo. We take this method of signifying our approval of all you have said about that most worthy man, and although he is a native of Kon tucky, yet he has no better friends to his native State than he has in Southern Illinois. He is perfectly endeared to the people here, by the strongest of ties, and when he resigned and left, it was with the deepest regret on the part of the whole people. Many inducements were offered to make him one of our permanent citizens. We are fully aware of the ties of his native State, and Unknown to his parents, and, in parenthesis, to the confiding American, the couple hastened off to some Gretna Green, and were firmly and legally married. The Court very properly suppressed the name of the gentleman who was made the subject of this new species of "black mail," and even of the date at which the liaison existed, no doubt as a compliment to so unexampled an instance of the sacrifice of the purse to the good opinion of the world. Methinks I can see by the light of my memory Their freshness and beauty—as I looked on them last The old-tims built cottage, with all its surroundings, Its green stretch of gardens, its cool, sparkling spring, And these as they rise—as seen in my childhood-Will sorrow's interminglings of happiness bring.

Back to my home on the shores of Miami, That rolls its clear waters neath the sycamore glade My spirit will oft on the wings of the memory Ply to the place where its infancy played. Shall I never again behold thee, dear spot, Or feel in my spirit thy freshness and bloom? Shall my footsteps ne'er again o'er thy lovely scen wander?

The thought, sad and ionely, fills me with gloom.

On thy bank's flowing river, where often in childhood In angling I strayed through the long hours of day, Was the home of my mother, the place of my boyhood And oft has she called me from its banks when a piay.

That home is no more, but long since forsaken Are its beantiful woodland and deep shaded bower; Its clear rippling streams are choked with the fillings Demanded by civilization's rude power. The flowers in the etiles and paths that approache

But plucked them from paths where long they ha To sweeten the air at early morn and at eye.

Ladicrous Affair-A Man Gets "Tight," and Lets into the Wrong House, and Wrong Bed, and Gets a Grand Pummeling.

Probably fifty persons had gathered around the house in the course of a few moments, but none of them dared to venture inside, fearing that some mnrderer was there secreted, and ready to make mince meat of any one who saw fit to place themselves in his power. But still the cries of "help!" "O God!" and "murder!" fell upon the ears of the frightened listeners, all of which appeared to come from several voices, both male and female. At last several men, allowing their fears to be overcome. Ventured to the door and loudly rapped. During all this time, not a Metropolitan was to be seen. all this time, not a Metropolitan was to be seen,— no wonder, when it is remembered that a patrol-man in Brooklyn has upwards of a mile to travel

At last a window np stairs was thrown open, when a man dressed in a scanty anpply of clothes, yelling out "Friend, ssave me! O, sure I'm killed," made his appearance. It could be indistinctly seen that he was being severely beaten by several seen that he was being severely beaten by several parties, all of whom were armed with broomsticks and other weapons of an offensive nature. He had no coat on and his "numentionables" were really in an unmentionable state. At last, with a cry, he jumped from the window to the parement, a distance of some twenty-five feet and lay insensible. Many people ran away but several returned, and picking the man np, conveyed him to an apothecary's shop near by, where it was found that he had aprained his ancle. When he recovered sufficiently to explain matters, he said. "You that he had sprained his ancle. When he recovered sufficiently to explain matters, he said, "You sace, gentlemen, I have been on a spree and live just next door to the house where I got beaten so badly. Well, by some mistake or other I got into the wrong house, and was just getting into the wrong bed when I discovered my mistake—and the worst of it was the people discovered it also. They have beaten me within an inch of life, and might have taken that had I not jumped out of the window." An investigation proved this s attement to be true, and the gentleman was taken home. He was bruised in every part of the body, his eyes were blackened, and not counting the damage done to his ancle, the poor fellow was badly hart. He will take care the next time.

REAL ESTATE SPECULATION.—The New York Times predicts that a speculation in real eatate is brewing in that city, which will probably send up the prices of real estate to a much higher point than they have reached in many years, if not higher than they have ever risen. Lots which sold at $200 and $300 ten years ago, are now selling at $5,000; and lots which could have been purchased at $2,000 would now be regarded as chean at $20.000.

FROM THE FRONTIERS

[Correspondence of the Lonisville Conrier.] The Territory of Kansas-Her Present Condition and Future Prospects-Soil, Climate, Etc. Mouth of Kaw River, Kansas Territory, Nov. 6, 1858.

Editors Louisville Courier:-When I left Ken tucky I promised to "drop you a line" occasional ly, giving you the result of my observations and experience in the "far, far West," and to furnish your numerous readers with true and reliable in ormation respecting the progress of affairs in that interesting region of country, Kansas and Nehraska, to which the eyes of the whole country have been turned for some time past. My delay in redeeming my promise has resulted from my unsettled condition, and not from forgetfulness or a desire to "shirk" a task. For the past two mouths I have been "on the wing"-now here, now there, and not long anywhere; one day seated on the upper deck of a first-class Missouri river ateamer, the next astride an Indian pony in the prairies of Nehraska, and the next shooting up the Kaw river (in sonthern Kansas) in a rude dugout with a half-breed Shawnee as companion and streersmau. Consequently, my facilities for jotting down mylearnings have not been at all times favorable; hut I have stored away in the lumber room of my memory a vast number facts, to be used as occasion requires, and am now settled down in comfortable winter quarters on one of the great thoroughfares between the old and new the great thoroughfares between the old and new countries, and at a hotel which is daily thronged by all sorts of wayfaring people—emigrants, tra-ders, politicians, Indians, Mexicans, greasers, etc. A more favorable position for acquiring informa-tion of the country and people I could not have found; and the information, of course, cannot be one-sided, as it comes through such varied and uncongenial sources.

In that vast extent of domain which has been designated the interior, Kansas Territory constitutes a very considerable part, and the political history of this country for the past four years has been of such a character as to give it a world-wide notoriety. Every one has heard something of Kansas, and every one is curious to hear more. In common with all the "interior," Kansas In common with all the "interior," Kansus possesses substantial and enduring advantages for the farmer. Even now, amid all her difficulties, the development of her lands has been kept up as extensively as could reasonably be expected amid the excitement, irregularities, and tumults of a lengthy, furious political campaign; and when once released from the fetters and oppressive tithes of politics, so unfavorable to the cultivation of her lands, the cultargement of her industry and social progress, she will speedly bedustry and social progress, she will speedly he come the richest in agricultural wealth and indu-trial enterprise of any State west of the Missis

The adjustment and final settlement of her affairs will be seed time and harvest for her sovereign farmers, while her merchants, mechanics, and artisans, will enrich themselves with the and artisans, will themselves with the fruits of trade, industry, and skill. For the last two or three years, very many of the people of this Territory, as well as of the States, have supposed, or rather feared, that the political condition of affairs in the Territory, would eventually prove the overthrow and down fall of all agricultural, commercial, and industrial enterprise in Kansas.
For aught that I know there may be good reasons for such fears, for even at this day there is othing settled, and nothing at all harmon permanent in her political organization. Yet the great idea of progress and money making, speculiarly characteristic of the American mines. peculiarly characteristic of the American nind, is rapidly overstepping and losing sight of the operations and negotiations of politicians. This done, the development of commerce, the raising of crops, the growth and sale of stock, the cultivation of vineyards, of hemp, to haceo, etc., and the building of railroads, will occupy the thoughts and labor of her people, while political negotiations will be looked upon and considered as a matter of profit and convenience only on the part of those engaged in such negotiations. Then it matter of profit and convenience only on the part of those engaged in such negotiations. Then it will be that Kansas Territory will occupy her true position in the interior, or rather in the "pastoral region of the world."

Among the many rostrum, pulpit, and news paper arguments for encouraging emigration to Kansas Territory, was its beautiful Italian climate. There is no such climate here. In the winter we have some severe weather, not so cold as in our northern States, but at the same time, we have a tew weeks when the best winter clothes that were ever manufactured in America would that were ever manufactured in America we not he at all uncomfortable. This is the truth. For all this, I consider the climate as health as can he found in the States. The winters are abort, never over three months of wintry weather, and sometimes not more than two, while in the

and sometimes not more than two, while in the summer we have mild, pleasant weather constantly. In the winter we are subject to sudden changes, from warm to cold, and vice versa, but in the summer we have us such changes. I cannot, therefore, and do not intend to allow myself to speculate upon advantages of climate, it we have any, but this I do know, that no where the thing the States can there he found nearly more than the states can there he found nearly more. in the States can there he found people more healthy and robust, cujoving better appetites than the people of this border. If such facts are any evidence of a good climate, I feel perfectly justified in aunouncing them.

The valleys of the Arkansas, Neasho, and the Kansas, are reported by the land office surveys, as lands of the tirst quality, and almost of Egypas lands of the dist duality, and almost of Egyption richness. If there are any products in the States that cannot be grown in some of these valleys, then a very exaggerated account of the geography of these valleys has come to us officially, from our government explorations.

Kansas Territory alone, extends 210 miles from north to south, and 650 miles from east to west, which is all along 134 500 yourse miles the making in all, about 136,500 square miles, th greater portion of which vast country will, in the with the great iron arms of some new city extending to her granaries of agriculture. Of this large extent of territory, which is now mostly unsettle my remarks must necessarily he prophetic; but I ot say less than to expect that the produc of this large domain, when fully developed, will surpass the agricultural fruits of any State marketing her harvests at the depots of any of our western commercial cities.

I have said nothing of the minerals of the ter I cannot do so now for the want of proper ritory. I cannot do so now for the want of proper information. I have heard a thousand rumors of the rich coal, lead, and iron regions of southern Kansas, but have never, as yet, been in the possession of information sufficiently authentic to enable me to give an elahorate account. I know, however, from my personal observations, that lead, coal, and irou, do exist in the southern division of this territory but an extension of this territory but and irou, do exist in the southern division of this territory but and irou. vision of this territor; but an at present wholly unprepared for any lengthy remarks concerning minerals, as they exist in Kansas.

On the west border of Missouri, and on the cast border of Kansas, and due south from me, only seventy miles, what are called Kansas minerals seventy miles, what are called Kansas minerals, exist plentifully. They are found in the valley of the Osage. Mining creek is a very old name, and was given to this creek on account of the lead and coal mines in its valley. There are gentlemen in our city who have specimens of the lead, iron, and coal, from this region. I am informed by these gentlemen that coal is very abundant about the Osage—that a well cannot be sunk any where without finding thick strata of coal.

It is something very unusual to find lead and where without inding thick strate of coal.

It is something very unusual to find lead and coal in the same sections, or coal and gold; it is indeed a geological anomaly—yet it is a fact that coal and lead exist in this valley, and from the nn nals of California, I learn that gold and coal art found in the Placera of the Sierra Nevada. Iron and coal are often found together, and in the val-

and coal are often found together, and in the valley of the Osage, near Monagan Springs, over in Missouri, these two minerals are inexhaustible.

The same geological formation that exists in this neighborhood, and throughout all the mineral regions of Southern Kansas, extends west and north west as far as Fort Riley, and even westward to the source of the Smoky Hill Fork of the Kansas. Examining parties, for the purpose of ascertaining the true extent and richness of these mineral regions, are about heing formed and outmineral regions, are about heing formed and out fitted at the expense of capitalists heretofore engaged in mineral operations. A missionary intorms me that there is a creek near the southern line of Missouri, situate in the Territory, where lead is found upon the aurface in lumps, from one to five inches in diameter, and as the Indians in that region have ever either they learned the On Wednesday night loud cries of "mnrder" were heard issuing from a house in Hudson avenue, Brooklyn, and a number of people gathered around, evidently expecting to see a horrid sight.

What rendered the shout more impressive was the fact that it was midnight.

Prohably fifty persona had gathered around the house in the course of a few moments, but none of

This information is fully corroborated by the merchants and settlers in the Cherokee reserve. Altogether, this is the most satisfactory evidence that at this day can possibly be furnished con-cerning the extent and evidences of rich mineral deposits in Southern Kausas, which mineral regions it is proposed to open through certain rail-way connections with Southern Kansaa, Arkan-sas, and Texas. [For the Louisville Courier.] BISHOP SPALDING-THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS-AND THE DEMOCRACY.

We now conclude our reply to the rejoinder 6. Hitherto the Journal writer has not denied our 6. Hitherto the Journal writer has not denied our facts, nor materially questioned the accuracy of our statement of them. This, coming from the quarter it does, is of itself a high compliment to us, which we duly appreciate. But now, for the first time, he takes issue with us in reference to our statement of facts, and our consequent reasoning thereon in the matter of a school which we oning thereon, in the matter of a school which we had deemed "hitterly sectarian" having heen taken under the fostering wing of the school trustees. As this is a matter of some importance, we shall be pardoued if we dwell on it at some greater than we have deemed necessary for other. It is really refreshing to have at length omething tangible to go on.

The Journal then charges that we have done njustice to the school trustees in hlaming them for adopting among our public schools the school on Sixth street, established by Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Devitt. If we did so, it was certainly wholly nnintentional. While speaking of the management of the schools, we more than once expressly and distinctly disclaimed ary intention to reflect personally upon any of the respectable members of the board of school trustees, either nest or present. We had evil of such boards in past or present. We had said of such boards in general: "And this (mismanagement) is often the case with hoards composed of the hest men, so case with hoards composed of the hest men, so that what we here say is totally independent of any reflection upon any member or members of any hard in our city—a thing wholly foreign to our intention, and wholly unnecessary to our argument." We were evidently merely reviewing the public acts of public men, as we had a clear right to do; and while doing so with becoming freedom, we stated explicitly that we had no intention whatever to reflect on their integrity as men and as citizens. Our course was theus anelear as it was fair and open, and no impartial lear as it was fair and open, and no impartial nan could mistake it.

The Jonrnal says that we confounded the Sabhath and industrial schools under the superintendence of Mr. McDevitt, with the day school goten up by his lady, and adopted by the trustoes, and denies that the last named is a sectarian chool, at least since it has been so adouted by the trustees. If we mistook, the mistake was quite natural. The Journal itself admits that Mr. McDevitt had perhaps made the same mistake in his report, which it 'does not deny was "bitterly sectarian." These are the Journal's words, a por-tion of which we italicise; "Now of these Sabhath Schools and of this Industrial School, Mr. McDevitt hus spoken freely in his report, and it may be has referred to the DAY SCHOOL ALSO, and has spoken with a warmth of feeling which the Bishop would consider bitterfy sectatian. Be it so. We do not find one word, bitter or otherwise, which goes to show that this Sixth strengt day school tends by the Mr. McDevitt.

Sixth street day school, taught by Mrs. McDevitt, and now superintended by the hoard of trustees, is a bitter sectarian school."

And yet it may he "a bitterly sectarian" school for all th.s, though Mr. McDevitt may not have said so in so many words in his report. His report is not only bitterly sectarian throughout, but it is already and unjust. Such words and expressions as "popery," "bondage to the man of sin," "Romanists," etc., besides the usual canting anecdotes, figure conspicuously throughout this remarkable document, and as he refers in it also to the Sixth street day echool, it is fair to conclude that this too was hitterly sectarian. ir to conclude that this too was bitterly sectarian When he made out his report in 1559—long after the school had been adopted by our trustees, to be supported out of money taken in part from the pockets of those whom he so fiercely abuses.

Speaking of his labors to convert the henighted trish papists," Mr. McDevitt enumerates among he trophies of his victory, "the children gathered rom their homes and taught that cleanliness is a cirtue, and learning every day something which vill fit them for usefulness here, and for a happy and glorious reign with Christ beyond the skies. As we said, we do not object to his laboring to prosclytize our children, but we do most stronouobject to bis doing so with money wrung from by taxation! And we would be less than meu, But the portion of the report made by the board of trustees of our city schools in 1857, in which his Sixth street school is adopted, is almost as outterly secturian, as that of Mr. McDevitt, written bitterly sectamen, as that of Mr. McDevitt, written more than a year after they had so adopted his, or his wife's, proselytizing school. They say:

"During the past year, the board has located, or rather adopted a school already located on Sixth street, below Main, from which much good may be reasonably anticipated. In that region, a large body of Irish may be found, in whose mind an appropriate matural anticaptary hightened by carly apparently natural antipathy hightened by raising, and confirmed, we fear, by religious raising, and confirmed, we fear, by recuplous infineences, exerts a positivo antagonism to the liberal education of the public school system."

This language in its connexion with the hitterly sectarian report of Mr. McDevitt is wholly un istakcable in its meaning. That the public may better able to compare the two documents, we subjoin to this paper the entire report of Mr. McDeritt. The carful perusal of hoth documents will, we believe, couvince every impartial man that we were entirely correct in whatever we said the Sixth street school. Now any one, in view of these official reports, would naturally have supposed that the school, while it will scarcely be denied, was originally secturian, hus been adopted as such, and so car ried on at the public expense by our enlightene and of trustees. The school was, ce rian crusade against Irish Catholics, and it was so adopted by the trustees; and Mr. McDevitt re lers to it, after its aloption, as part of the machinery which he still wields, in his avowed mission to percert from the faith of their fathers the Children of Irish Catholics. This school is, more-over, taught in the same building as the Sabhath azd sewing schools, and the wife of the hired enand sewing schools, and the wife of the hired envoy of an avowedly proselytising society, conducts it, with a salary paid out of the common school fund! All this constitutes a body of positive and presumptive evidence in favor of what we stated, which cannot be resisted. The Journal writer must be very blind, indeed, not to see the conclusiveness of such evidence, so patent to every impartial observer.

But it is alleged that this school is located in an anandoned district where a school is much needed, and it was, therefore, a work of charity in the school trustees to adopt it, and to place it under chool trustees to adopt it, and to place it under he superintendence of the hoard. Had the trus tees done so with their own money, they might, perhaps, have deserved thanks for their generasiy; but when they do it with ours, we surely have right to inquire into the character of the school thus adopted and supported; and if it should turn out—as it does turn out—that this school is bitterly sectarian, we have a right to question, not only their oficial generosity, but also their oficial only their official generative, but also their official justice. This was our position, and we now see no reason to change it in the lesst.

We have oothing to say against Mr. McDevitt; he, probably, does the work for which he is hired and well paid by the American and Foreign Union; and whether he does it according to contact or not it is for his employers not for us to tract or not, it is for his employers, not for us, to decide. What we do object to is, that our school trustees should employ moneys raised by taxing all alike for advancing the glaringly sectarian work which Mr. McDevitt is already sufficiently paid to do.

We had already, ourselves, established four parochial schools—two for boys and two for girls— in the congregations of the Cathedral and of St. Patrick's, on Thirteenth street, between Main and Patrick's, ou Thirteenth street, hetween Main and Market; all of which were sufficiently convenient of access to either the upper and lower portions of the district in question. We had erected, and are now conducting these schools by our own means, not by money wrung from unwilling tax payers. Our people are generally poor, but they are very generous, and they have most cheerfully come to our aid in presecuting this good work.—We have employed every possible effort, through our zealous clergy and otherwise, to induce the children of that district to attend our parochial schools, and we are happy to say that, to a certain extent, at least, we have succeeded.

extent, at least, we have succeeded.

But lo! here come in the Board of School Trustees, wielding its revenue of over sixty thousand dollars, raised by taxing us alike with others, and textent, at least, we have succeeded.

But lo': here come in the Board of School Trustees, wielding its revenue of over sixty thousand dollars, raised by taxing us alike with others, and openly adopts a sectarian school, gotten up with the avowed purpose of proselytizing our children.

It was not enough that a man, salaried by a foreign proselytizing society, should thwart our purpose of rearing the little ones of our flock in the latih of their fathers, but the city itself must be attended their in the same than the same that the same than the same than the same that the same than t way connections with Southern Kansaa, Arkansas, and Yexas. In the next ten years, I am warrant do in believing that three or four large cities will he built west of the Mississippi river. Geography and commerce warrant us in this conclusion. So extensive is weatern empire already in the hands of the forerunners of American progress and development, that the foundation and building of these great commercial entrepots is already demanded. The business of the several divisions of this great empire of products also demands them, and the geography of the respective divisions fixes their localities. Where are they to be built?—is the question I purpose to answer in a future letter. Sometime, perhaps in fifty years or less, this nation will be numbering one hundred million of people. One-fourth of this population will then be living east of the Mississlppi, and three-fourths of them west of it, and this side of the Rocky Monntains. Some city within fifty miles of schere I am now writing will then occupy the commercial and geographical center of that immense population.

Victim of Uncontrollable Impulse.—Medical books give numerons cases of victims of uncontrollable impulse. A lady was caught in New cannot see that any real or permanent good has come of it to the cause of genuine Christian.

agents of the American and Foreign Union, and we cannot see that any real or permanent good has come of it to the cause of genuine Christianity. The hitter cruaade has greatly annoyed Catholics, without doing much real injury to the Catholic Church, or subserving in any material degree the cause of Protestantism. The chief effect it has had, has been to keep alive feelings of nuchristian uncharitableness among different comes. He was bruised in every part of the body, comes, and the gentleman was taken the was bruised in every part of the body, comes, and not consting the damage done to his ands, the poor fellow was bruised in every part of the body, and not consting the damage done to his ands, the poor fellow was aduly hurt. it is only for a time; and they are often afterwards driven by remorse to retrace their steps to the one fold of the one shepherd. This crusade has been tried in Ireland, with precisely this stender result. It began in the year of the great famine, and from the fact that one of the chief means of the Protestant missionaone of the chief means of the Protestant missionaries for proselytizing the poor starving people was soup, these were called by the ready-witted Irish in derision, and not unappropriately, Soupers.—Hundreds who, in that trying time, temporarily renounced their faith to avoid atarvation, have since returned, weeping over their apostasy, to the bosom of the Catholic church. The entire "Souper" movement in Ireland has thus turned out a wretched failure, and such, we have not a doubt, will he its fate here also. We admire zeal and charity, as much probably as any one else, but and charity, as much probably as any one else, but we distrust both when they are exhibted in the manner just indicated, with the appliances of food to the starving and clothing to the naked as the price of apoatacy.

The Journal writer thinks that the present average cost of nearly ten dollars per scholar, is not too high for a primary education in our public schools. We adhere to our already expressed opiniou on the subject, and helieve it not only ex-cessive, but enormous. We say more, and ex-press our full conviction, with all due respect to the trustees, that, under our own system of management, we could do it—and we believe about as well as it is now done—for one half the amount. If our opponents do not believe us, let them try the experiment.

The Journal writer also places the high average cost of our try high schools, which are appendix.

ost of our two high schools, which are respective, , in round numbers, $35 and $66 per scholar, long with the nuch lower average per scholar of the primary schools; and therefore makes the aggregate average per scholar for all, about $11.
This is not fair. The two things are entirely different, and it is manifestly not right to settle down on a common average for both. They should be estimated separately, as the school trustees very properly do in their report, to come to a correct judgment of the aggregate and average expense of the two widely different grades of education in our public schools. The justice of this remark will be appreciated by every sensible man, who is at all acquainted with the prachiage. man, who is at all acquainted with the machinery of educational systems.

We have now accomplished our task. Whatever may be the result, we shall have the satisfact ion of feeling that we have discharged our ohli gation towards the little ones of our flock. We lieved it to be our sacred duty to defend their nterests, when a favorable opportunity seemed providentially afforded us to do so, hy a labored ttack on us made in the editorial columns of the Though naturally averso to controve ournal. Though naturally averso to controve y, and especially to newspaper discussion, wild not believe that, with our carneat conscietions convictions on a subject of such vital in ortance, we would be justified before God instintaining silence under all the circumstance.

We have been, indeed, earnest and energetic i thus pleading for freedom of education against State monopoly, hut we repeat it, that we have intended no offense to any one, and that we have honestly endeavored to discuss principles, not nen. Having thus discharged our duty, we con-dently leave the result to God, who is the Father the poor, and whose divine Son so loved little children. We have plainly and aernessly stated our grievances to an enlightened and honest public-to the people, and not to any particular politic-

We have indeed, a decent regard for the quinion of our fellow citizens, and we are fully tware that in the course we have felt it our duty award that the course we have left it our duty to take, wo have not assumed what the time-serving politician would call the popular side.—But, much as we desire the good opinion of our fellow men, we frankly avow that we greatly prefer to be right, to having the applause of the whole world for a course which our conscience would not support. not approve. With St. Paul, we may say, that i we sought to please men, we would not be the servants of Christ, who was crucified by men. If we do not succeed, we have this consolation a any rate, that the condition of Catholics with regard to our public schools, cannot well be worse an it has been, and is now.

The grievance under, which Catholics have been ong suffering, all candid men must admit, is both eavy and oppressive. If our plan of free env ATION as against STATE MONPOLY—warranted by ic successful experiment of France, Austria avaria, Prussia, and other countries much less ee than our own-be not the only effectual rem which we cannot be not the only effectual ren-det to the evil which weighs on Protestants a-yell as ourselyes, we are prepared to hear of a notter and more efficient project for the same pur-pose. to none.

And that the people may have an enportunity to see and examine both sides of this vital question, and to come to a right conclusion on its merits, we here make to the editors of the Louisville. ournal the following proposition, which, we he eve to be entirely fair and equitable. It is this Let this whole discussion be published in hool rm, including our pamphlet with the Journal's form, including our paniphies with the Journal; articles attacking its positions, and our own articles, and those of the Courier and Guardian, defending them; with the privilege to each side trevise its productions and to add a final article by way of summing up; we to defray one half the expense of the publication, and the Journal the other half, and each of us being entitled to have half the copies published for sale or gratuitou-distribution. If the Journal decline this fair proposition—as we fear, and even venture to predic it will—the public will see at once on which side there exists confidence as to the soundness of the positions taken, and which side is afraid of fr believe that the cause they advocate can be investigation, they can surely have no objection t letting the people have a full opportunity to se and examine both sides of this question for them

MR. M'DEVITT'S REPORT. [From June No. of Christian Union, 1858.] [From June No. of Christian Union, 1838.]

The Rev. John McDevitt, who is stationed in Louisville, in the State of Kentucky, has labored with great success among the Irlsh papists. By the commercial embarrassment suffered in the country, Mr. McDevitt was led to suspend his labors, in part, for a season. They were soon resumed, however, in full. And notwithstanding the most decided opposition made by priests and others, still his work goes on. He says:

In presenting my annual report to the society, I have reason for deep gratitude to our Heavenly Father, who has youchsafed to me, his unworthyservant, such a measure of success, amidst arduous, difficuit, and sometimes dangerous labors. To point out what the society is doing in this city by a few isolated facts, would be but as a drop to the bucket; and time alone can tell, with the ling in this city by a few isolated facts, would be but as a drop to the bucket; and time alone can tell, with the blessing of God, what good results may flow to the souls of many from the kind and encouraging word here, the tract left there, the Bible left with this family of anxious inquirers, and the prayer offered in that—from the children gathered from their loomes and taught that cleanliness is a virtue, and learning every day something which will fit them for usefuluess here, and for a happy and glorious reign with thrist beyend the skies.

To show you how the leaven of the truth is working here, and which is caused not entirely by the labors of your missionary, but by the priests themselves—the people contrasting his conduct with theirs—I will give you a few examples:

A few days ago I met a man on the street, who stopped me and asked, "Do you not know me?" I replied that I had forgotten, if I ever knew. "Don't you recoilect," said he, "when I lived in Mr. — "s back room, on Fourth street, when I was without food or bed cichling, you came and relieved me and my family? We had applied to the rilests, but they would dive us nothing.

you came and relieved me and my family? We had ap plied to the priests, but they would give us nothing, weighed your conduct whit helrs, and having carefully east the Bible you gave me, I have learned from it to put no more faith in Popery."

The Romanists have now what they call a spiritual retreat in their churches here, (and if you saw how man drunken people are brought up before the courts, i would appear that the treat was spirituous.) I asked:

ord."

I have made during the year about two thousand vis I have made during the year about two thousand visits for religious conversation, for the reading of the Scriptures, and for prayer. I have distributed in Romanist families 18 Bibles, 50 Testaments, and a great number of other religious books, given by some kind iadies here. I have distributed several thousand pages of tracts, and esiablished during the year two new Sunday schools in the destitute parts of this city, and have an average attendance every Sunday, of from two to three hundred children, besides our industrial sewing school, averaging from 60 to 100 papils. I am very happy to be able to report several families who have left Popery, and are now learning the way of life. They number in all 18. They are now under Gospel training, May the lord revive his work throughout the length and breadth of nur land, and to his name be the praise evermore!

STEAMBOATS LEAVING THIS DAY.

THE RIVER and weather remain unchanged and unvaried, the water in the canal being four feet nine inches deep, while on Portland har there are fully six feet water. The weather was cloudy and rather mild all day, though chilly at times, with a light rain last night. During the past three days the channel depth of water at the wharf has not varied an inch.

At Cincinnat and Pittsburgh the river is falling very slowly, with coal and was clearly stated. ing very slowly, with cool and very cloudy weather, and we next expect to hear of very heavy rains in the mountains, to he followed by mild weather and a coal hoat tide.

OUACHITA RIVER PACKET .-- Moro is the nam of a new hoat just finished, hy Capt. John Jennings, for the Onachita river, being the third boat built here by him, within the last three years, for the same trade. Since the building of these hoats, Capt. Jennings has induced merchants from the Ouachita to huy merchandise and manufactured Ouachita to huy merchandise and manufactured articles here, to a great amount, with which they have freighted the hoats huilt by Capt. J., and much credit is due him hy our merchants and manufacturers for his liheral patronage. The hull of the Moro, built by Nadal, is one of the hest johs of the season. The machinery, hy Hanley, Billings & Co., is very complete, and hard to heat. The upholstery, carpets, etc., were furnished, as usual, hy John A. Dickinson, of Fourth street; and the china, glassware, cutlery, lamps, chandeliers, etc., were furnished hy our young friends, Walton & Barret, who have furnished tho majority of boats built at this port.

The Moro went to Cincinnati for a few manufactured articles, and is expected back here tofactored articles, and is expected back here to-day, when she will have quick dispatch for Cam-den, and all points along the Ouachita, and we cordially commend her to shippers and passeu-gers hound South. She is a light draught boat, and will not be detained on sand bars. PACIFIC FOR NEW ORLEANS-LIGHTNING LINE.

The unrivaled passenger packet Pacific, one of the new Lightning Line, takes her departure to New Orleans this evening at 5 o'clock. She has been thoroughly refitted and improved during the past summer, her water-wheels lengthened, and an addition built to the texas, or upper cabin, and she can now accommodate 175 passengers with state-rooms.
